WHAT IS IT?

Practical Spiritual Astrology is grounded in the understanding that our aim as consciously evolving humans is not only to remember and reclaim our essential divine nature, but also to manifest that spiritual essence more dynamically and more abundantly in the material world. The sacred knowledge of the heavenly intelligences and their cosmic cycles can guide us infallibly into spontaneous right action and joyful, fulfilled expression of our true selves.

Practical Spiritual Astrology thus brings us daily opportunities for being completely spiritually centered in a consistently resourceful manner that brings out the best qualities in our circumstances, that is completely congruent with our true creative nature, and that is genuinely helpful to others in a multitude of pragmatic, life-affirming ways.

THE FOCUS FOR NOVEMBER

At the start of November our environment shifts significantly, from clarity to confusion and from communication to deception. The experience can certainly be a bit uncomfortable, but as much as we might like to remain anonymous, there is little we can do to avoid recognition. We may wish that our shortcomings and inept fumbblings were invisible, but they persist simply to remind us to accept ourselves as we truly are. Our absolute nature is best expressed through unbounded outpourings of divine creativity; every apparent error becomes a joyful part of the cosmic dance. As we acknowledge that essence within us, we have much to celebrate!

As we move forward on the spiritual path, we must inevitably confront our own shadow side, the part of ourselves that we would rather keep hidden. New breakthroughs in consciousness and newly refined perceptions compel us to unmask ourselves, giving us an opportunity to bring healing and compassion to our former selves. We may actually be surprised by the suddenness with which a shift takes place within our hearts, letting us move dramatically from a stressful sense of crisis into an amazed awareness that the Universe is giving us a second chance.

Above all, opening ourselves to love means that we are willing to be vulnerable, and there are certainly occasions when that vulnerability becomes painful. Even so, these sobering experiences bring more than an aching heart; they also offer us a chance to understand ourselves in a new, more profound way. It is as if we can see ourselves with x-ray vision, and as we gain deeper knowledge of who we really are, our hearts can open spontaneously to incredible new dimensions of joy and tenderness.

At the time of the November 20 New Moon we would like to regain some clarity in our awareness, some fresh wave of refinement that will help us hear the unheard voices that surround us and see the subtleties of our environment with more loving sensibilities. Yet while that desire is so powerfully strong within our hearts, we must nevertheless be temporarily content with limited vision and muffled hearing. We are just beginning to discover our spiritual wholeness, so we can only imagine what it will be like to have our lives completely absorbed in divine expression. But we shouldn't complain about our need for imagination; it is actually a key step toward awakening the intuition that will bring us even greater rewards!

Toward the end of the month there's a tough struggle going on between our heart-felt push toward more expansive and loving possibilities and our judgmental inner voices that warn us to get serious and protect ourselves. While there's no doubt about which side of this internal argument is a calling toward higher spiritual accomplishments, we may feel perplexed by the emotional stress this debate provokes. Although we'd like to remain serene and blissfully detached from emotional drama, we would be better off if we saw the true role that our extreme emotions play: they compel us to break through the limitations of our old paradigms, catapulting us into more advanced evolutionary states, whether we feel ready for them or not!
